Khenra Twins. If your twin is alive and you can see your twin, whenever you roll a 1 on an attack roll, ability check, or saving throw, you can reroll the die and must use the new roll. If your twin is dead (or if you were born without a twin), you can't be frightened.

Canine Senses. You have proficiency in the Perception skill and advantage on Wisdom (Perception) checks that rely on smell.

Tackle Takedown. Immediately after you use the Dash action on your turn and move at least 20 feet, you can attempt to shove a creature prone as part of that action.

RACIAL TRAITS

Psionics. You have an internal reservoir of 14 Psi points that can be devoted to psionic disciplines you know. You can use no more than 3 psi points to activate a psionic discipline. As a bonus action, you can choose one of your psionic disciplines and gain its psychic focus benefit. The benefit lasts until you are incapacitated or until you use another bonus action to choose a different focus benefit.

Psionic Hammer. As an action, you try to grasp one creature you can see within 120 ft of you, with a hand crafted from telekinetic energy. The target must succeed on a Strength saving throw or take 1d6 force damage. If it takes any of this damage and is Large or smaller, you can move it up to 10 ft in a straight line in a direction of your choice. You can't lift the target off the ground unless it is already airborne or underwater.

Blind Spot. As an action, you erase your image from the mind of one creature you can see within 120 feet of you; the target must succeed on a Wisdom saving throw, or you are invisible to it until the end of your next turn.

Mystic Order.

Order of the Awakened. Mystics dedicated to the Order of the Awakened seek to unlock the full potential of the mind.

Mystical Recovery. Immediately after you spend psi points on a psionic discipline, you can take a bonus action to regain hit points equal to the number of psi points you spent.

Telepathy. You can telepathically speak to any creature you can see within 120 ft. of you. You don't need to share a language with the creature for it to understand your telepathic messages, but the creature must be able to understand at least one language or be telepathic itself.

Psionic Investigation (1/Long Rest). If you hold an object and concentrate on it for 10 minutes, you learn a few basic facts about it. You gain a mental image from the object's point of view, showing the last creature to hold the object within the past 24 hours, and any events that have occurred within 20 feet of the object within the past hour. You can only see and hear these events. Additionally, you can embed a psionic sensor within the object. For the next 24 hours, you can use an action to learn the object's distance and direction from you, and to look at the object's surroundings from its point of view. This perception lasts until the start of your next turn.

These are poor tools, and any checks with them are made at disadvantage.

ADDITIONAL FEATURES

Khenran Mask. A mask featuring Khenran features on an iron plate.

[illegible]

What is the single most traumatic event in your characters life?
Having to leave their other half, their twin, behind. With nothing but a promise to return and half of their shared weapon set.

If every one of your characters items were in a fire, which item would they save

Their glaive, it's not an ornate thing, but it's part of a set of which their other half has the dagger. It may well be the last thing they have left of their Khenra twin.

If every person your character met was in a room, who would they try to find first?

Their twin, for they are one together.

Does your character believe in ghosts/the afterlife

Ghosts? No. But they do believe in a glorious afterlife odd endless delights should they die a glorious death in the Trial of Zeal. But if they were to die without making it to the Trial of Zeal, they would be left to wander the afterlife aimlessly.

What is your characters greatest fear

That they will never reunite with their Khenra twin, with their twin dying alone, wandering aimlessly for eternity.

What fear does your character think is the most pointless

The fear of battle, for it is just a test to hone your skills, to prepare for the Trial to come.

If your character lost everything, would they keep going? Why or why not?

It depends how hard it hit them. I can see them deciding one of two things. One, give up and let themselves die a death outside of the Trial of Zeal, hoping to one day reunite with their other half while wandering eternity. Two. Push even harder, train harder, get to the Trial, and try beat Hazoret.

Does your character wish they were a different race

No, they have never seen a race with as close of a bond as they do with their twin, so they don't think those of other races can reach the closeness that they have.

Does your character have any prejudices

They don't think any other race can achieve the intimate closeness that Khenra can, and some races don't train as hard as Khenra do, so they believe that some races, unless they undergo rigorous training, will not be as strong, skilled, cunning, or driven.

How does your character feel about other people not agreeing with their religious beliefs

They think them stupid, to disregard the Trials is to doom themselves to an eternity under the Curse of Wandering.

NOTES

What is the single most enticing thing that could ever be offered to your character? Person, place, object, whatever. Just the one thing that would make them stop at nothing to get to it.

A chance to get their twin free, as their twin is literally their other half, so much so that they see themselves as one unit, not two individuals.

Made from tough but flexible leather, studded leather is reinforced with close-set rivets or spikes.

Perhaps the most common tools used by adventurers, thieves' tools are designed for picking locks and foiling traps. Proficiency with the tools also grants you a general knowledge of traps and locks.

Components. Thieves' tools include a small file, a set of lock picks, a small mirror mounted on a metal handle, a set of narrow-bladed scissors, and a pair of pliers.

History. Your knowledge of traps grants you insight when answering questions about locations that are renowned for their traps.

Investigation and Perception. You gain additional insight when looking for traps, because you have learned a variety of common signs that betray their presence.

Set a Trap. Just as you can disable traps, you can also set them. As part of a short rest, you can create a trap using items you have on hand. The total of your check becomes the DC for someone else's attempt to discover or disable the trap. The trap deals damage appropriate to the materials used in crafting it (such as poison or a weapon) or damage equal to half the total of your check, whichever the DM deems appropriate.

These metal restraints can bind a Small or Medium creature. Escaping the manacles requires a successful DC 20 Dexterity check. Breaking them requires a successful DC 20 Strength check. Each set of manacles comes with one key. Without the key, a creature proficient with thieves' tools can pick the manacles' lock with a successful DC 15 Dexterity check. Manacles have 15 hit points.

A backpack is a leather pack carried on the back, typically with straps to secure it. A backpack can hold 1 cubic foot/30 pounds of gear.

You can also strap items, such as a bedroll or a coil of rope, to the outside of a backpack.

This tin box contains a cup and simple cutlery. The box clamps together, and one side can be used as a cooking pan and the other as a plate or shallow bowl.

This small container holds flint, fire steel, and tinder (usually dry cloth soaked in light oil) used to kindle a fire. Using it to light a torch—or anything else with abundant, exposed fuel—takes an action. Lighting any other fire takes 1 minute.

A torch burns for 1 hour, providing bright light in a 20-foot radius and dim light for an additional 20 feet. If you make a melee attack with a burning torch and hit, it deals 1 fire damage.

Rations consist of dry foods suitable for extended travel, including jerky, dried fruit, hardtack, and nuts.

Rope, whether made of hemp or silk, has 2 hit points and can be burst with a DC 17 Strength check.

The Hathrans of Rashemen normally wear masks that hide their faces when treating with outsiders or traveling outside of Rashemen. Most are nonmagical, however some honored Hathrans receive special masks that are enchanted with various effects.

A component pouch is a small, watertight leather belt pouch that has compartments to hold all the material components and other special items you need to cast your spells, except for those components that have a specific cost (as indicated in a spell's description).

While wearing this cloak, you can use a bonus action to change the style, color, and apparent quality of the garment. The cloak's weight doesn't change. Regardless of its appearance, the cloak can't be anything but a cloak. Although it can duplicate the appearance of other magic cloaks, it doesn't gain their magical properties.
